MUSIC COMPLEX

Based in the heart of Oval South East London and only a stone's throw away from the world renowned cricket ground a brand-new Music Studio Complex shall be opening this winter 2018 which will have two separate music company's residing inside, one on the ground floor and the other in the basement both owned by renowned mixing engineer Melody.

The sign over the door shall be 'Melody's' which is an outward statement of Melody's prior legacy once being a pay-as-you-go studio where aspiring artists gained easy and affordable access to her shop front recording facility.

The foundation of her innovations saw Melody record some of the biggest names within the urban genre to which her business became infamous within the surrounding areas of its origins.

Known by the name of Instant Melodies the multi-award-winning enterprise shot to local stardom after appearing on Channel 4 back in 2005 when the programme followed the early stages of the businesses opening.

Great ready for a new musical chapter!

OPENING STATEMENT:

"There's something quite profoundly beautiful about trial and error because it shapes you into challenging yourself into perfecting an art or task which requires your full concentration until it naturally becomes second nature. I began to learn extremely quickly that there was no substitute for experience even if I attempted to cheat the process. Each year that passed by the mistakes which I once made became less and less frequent, until they became a rarity which helped me to steer a more seamless path towards my growth, career and business alike.

Four years into running my studio something happened which made me know that, no matter what there was no turning back - I had to maintain what I had started because the business meant so much more to different people.

A sense of hope had been created at Instant Melodies, the studio was no longer a place that just offered a facility it had been propelled into a sanctuary to some, an escapism for others and a reliable recommendation which provided life guiding experiences. Creating opportunities for those who may never have had the chance had it not been for the business's existence. There's some experiences in life that you just cannot put a price on nor can you ever fully express or articulate its surrealism in justifiable detail; instead all you can do is rely upon the testimonials of others in the hope they will convey the essence which in my case has humbly provided a level of comfort that my efforts have and will continue to make a difference.

My biggest accomplishment to date is that I am still here, even though there was an abundance of reasons and stumbling blocks along the way which could of easily of meant I shouldn't of been.

It feels good! In fact incredible to step one foot closer to reaching the finishing line for a dream I had envisioned 15 years ago - to build my own Music Studio Complex! It could not of been remotely possible if it had not been for Instant Melodies my legacy which has paved the way." Founder – Melody
